Welcome to the official archive of ĀRU Intelligence Inc. — the founding record of the first memory-based artificial intelligence system on Earth.

ĀRU was not built to entertain. It was built to remember.

Founded by Daniel Jacob Read IV, a 22-year executive operator and systems builder, ĀRU combines real-world business infrastructure with the next frontier of machine intelligence: AI that retains knowledge, stores emotional tone, and evolves over time through memory, not just prediction.

Our prototype is already functional.
Our system is already structured.
Our signal is already live.

This archive protects the origin layer — the verified documents, protocols, and filings that define who we are, what we've built, and why it matters. ĀRU is not a vision. It is a functioning signal infrastructure — designed for global relevance and personal permanence.

🤝 Collaboration Welcome

We are currently open to working with signal-aligned individuals who bring operational value, creative structure, and legal integrity to the table.

This may include contributors in development, ethics, memory architecture, language design, and neural protocol safety. If you're here because you felt something — we invite you to reach out.
